MAN KILLED AT UNGUARDED
M.C. CROSSING

Maurice M. O'Mara, 68 year old resident of Frankfort was killed last Thursday morning when the auto he was driving was struck and dragged by a New York Central freight train in Frankfort at the unguarded Oak St. crossing of the Michigan Central Railroad. He was alone in the car at the time of the accident.

The Oak street crossing is regarded by local residents as a dangerous one because of the lack of train approach warning lights, poor visibility in each direction and the fact that children must pass the unguarded crossing on their way to and from school.

The engineer of the westbound freight, James Dietz of Niles, Mich., told state police that he had seen O'Mara's car approaching the crossing at a slow rate of speed for several blocks and had sounded warning whistles.

Dr. Merle Otto, Frankfort physician, pronounced O'Mara dead at the scene of the accident and Will county coroner Willard G. Blood said skull fracture was the apparent cause of his death.

The freight was proceeding at a moderate rate of speed from Niles to Joliet and the engineer fixed the trains' speed at about 28 mph at the time of the accident.

O'Mara's widow, Anna, said he was in good health and that they had planned a Minnesota vacation trip last week.

His body was taken to the Zechlin funeral home in Frankfort. Funeral services were held Sept. 13 at St. Marys church, Mokena, with burial in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Joliet.

A native of Minnesota O'Mara had resided in Frankfort since 1945. He was employed by the Greyhound Bus company as a mechanic and since his retirement a year ago had been farming the 20 acre plot on which his home is located.

Survivors besides his widow are three sons, M. C. O'Mara of Clarkston, Mich., J. E. O'Mara of Minneapolis, Minn., and W. C. O'Mara of Cleveland, two sisters and one brother.

NEED A DOCTOR IN A HURRY?

When you need medical service fast and for some reason can't reach your own doctor, here is what to do.

In almost 700 cities the very best thing you can do is call the county medical society's emergency call service, say you want a doctor fast, and relax in the knowledge that within 15 or 20 minutes a doctor will be at your door.

If you don't know the number in your city, you can find it in the phone book under "emergency medical service," or perhaps "doctor's emergency service." The information operator at the telephone company can give it to you.

The worst thing you can do is run down the "physicians and surgeons" column in the yellow section of the telephone book. You may waste valuable time calling doctors miles from your home or specialists who can't really help in the current emergency.

Fifty thousand plastic bathtubs are being made annually, mostly for trailers. Motels are beginning to get them, and households will be next. The tubs are easy to clean, lightweight, and don't chill the epidermis on contact. Changing Times.

WHY IT'S CALLED "SERVICE"

When the oil industry calls its retail outlets "service stations" it really means just that. Just how much service is given can be seen in the report by one statistically-minded oil company that in 1950 its dealers wiped 129,024,700 windshields, checked 123,863,700 tires, filled 78,834,300 radiators, and checked 47,739,100

Larger Quarters For Chicago Dairy Show
The International Dairy Show will be the first event to utilize the huge addition to the International Amphitheatre at the Chicago Stock Yards when the 2nd annual dairy show is held here October 9 to 16.

Work on the 188,000 sq. ft. structure, adjoining the present building at the South, is being rushed for completion in time for the opening of the Dairy Show. In part, it will house stock that will be seen in the World Championship Rodeos, scheduled as an entertainment in conjunction with the dairy cattle show. The expanded Amphitheatre will be the country's largest exhibition building. The addition nearly doubles the exhibition area of the original International Amphitheatre constructed 20 years ago. It will be equipped with a sunken rail track from which 10 freight cars can be unloaded at once at floor level.

International Dairy Show officials anticipate a large number of foreign dairymen will visit the show this year. A world travel agency reports numerous reservations for travel to Chicago by dairymen of South and Central American countries and Europe.

First entries for this year's show are registered by several well known Eastern breeders, the management reports. Last year's initial Chicago dairy cattle classic drew over 2000 entries from 27 states and three provinces of Canada.

There will be competitions for 4-H and F.F.A. boys and girls to exhibit animals of their own raising in all breeds and young people will also take part in Collegiate and 4-H dairy cattle judging contests as well as in a collegiate dairy products judging contest that will be introduced this year.

Thirteen rodeos are scheduled.

Conducted as sporting events, the country's top cowboys will compete for championship points in a number of dangerous events that will include bronc-riding, bull-dogging, calf-roping, and Brahma bull-riding.

Fewer people are getting married now than at any time since 1933. — Changing Times.

LINCOLN WAY SCHOOL NEWS

Marion Nelson was elected temporary president of the Senior Class; and Ardis Batson was elected temporary secretary during the first senior class meeting held Friday morning, Sept. 10.

Several senior class problems were discussed including class rings, yearbook, class play, and fund raising activities. The class also elected on a temporary basis Mary Lou Loebe, Paul Francis, Dale McMahon, and Pat Heisner for representation on the Student Council.

An election was held in a general assembly Friday morning for Lincoln Way cheerleaders, and the following girls were selected by the student body: Judy Lane, Mary Vaughn, Anita McMahon, Mary Ann Heisner, Susan Schlotter, and Carol Weichselberger.

By an overwhelming majority the student body selected the colors of Red and Black for the school. Other nominations had been Navy Blue and Gold; and Red and Gold. At the same time the student body selected Knights as the official nickname for the school. Other nominations had been Rainsplitters, Indians, and Pioneers. The team members will probably be referred to as the Black Knights.

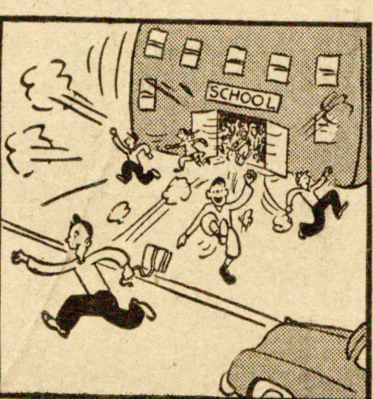

The New York Central railroad purchased about nine million tons of coal last year.

Coal is the one fuel which will not be in short supply in the event of a major war.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

School days are here again. Youngsters are dragging their feet toward the school building each morning and exploding from it each afternoon. You will have to be especially careful in school areas at those times of day, as well as at the noon hour and recess time. Schools are making every effort to teach traffic safety to their pupils, but there are a great many other important things on youngsters' minds, and they are not always thinking about traffic hazards when they should be. So that puts the responsibility for their safety, and your own protection, right on you.

Keep your speed down in school zones so you will be able to stop if a sudden burst of enthusiasm on the part of some boy or girl causes the youngster to dart unexpectedly into your path. Watch for school crossings and cooperate with the schoolboy patrols.

On rural roads, watch particularly for school buses. When a school bus properly marked is stopped for children to get on or off, state law requires you to come to a complete stop, whether you are approaching the bus or following it, and remain stopped until the children have completed getting on or off. (Section 99a, Uniform Act Regulating Traffic.)

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

"You can't hurt ME..."

only ONE life

Sure, little boys can be a headache sometimes. But what if something happened to one of them? Some little guy would miss a lot of life if he were hurt or killed by your car. But you'll never miss the seconds it takes to slow down near schools. Make up your mind to...

DRIVE CAREFULLY—the child you save may be your own!

RECEDING HAIRLINES

By Science Features

There's no use losing any sleep worrying about losing your hair—for so far there is nothing that can be done about getting bald. Whether or not people lose their hair is determined primarily by their genes and not by their own effort.

The most frequent type of baldness is inherited from parents and—like almost everything else—is influenced by sex; men are much more affected than women. Baldness may also develop from inadequate care of the scalp or as a result of serious infections such as pneumonia or influenza. Frequently, in these cases, the hair returns when health becomes normal.

Gray hairs are not symptomatic of baldness but merely lack the special pigment for hair coloration. Most men lose about 50 hairs a day, but, as the typical head contains 100,000 strands, it does not make much difference—if the healthy scalp produces replacements.

The first chemical clue to the cause of baldness was recently discovered at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School. Scientists found that sebum, an oily substance secreted by the scalp, contains hair-killing compounds. It was previously regarded as an agent that only lubricated the scalp. The body's sex hormones are said to regulate the amount and quality of sebum produced. Experiments are under way to determine what substances explain why hair grows in most cases and what can be done to prevent thinning in others. A prescription for preventing baldness may be a long way off but medical researchers feel that progress is being made.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

How we may prove and experience man's God-given dominion over material bondage of all kinds - sin, disease, and limitation - will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday, September 19. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Matter."

The spiritual heritage of freedom which belongs to man is set forth in the following selections from the Bible (Galatians 4:6,7): "And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ."

The following passage will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (223:3): "Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit."

BABSON SAYS—

Copyright, 1954, Publishers
Financial Bureau, Inc.

I wonder how many of my readers have been misled lately by the rash of exaggerated claims and bait advertising on radio, television, and in certain magazines. Yes, and in mail-order advertising also.

How glowing should the adjectives be that a company uses to describe its product? When do these superlatives trespass upon the bounds of good taste? How far can the truth be stretched and still resemble credibility? At what point does the customer lose his faith not just in some product, but in businessmen as a whole? All gasolines can't be the best! All tobaccos can't be the mildest! All cars can't give the greatest number of miles per gallon. All detergents can't wash the whitest. Or, is something happening to the English language - or to our ethics, maybe?

Take toothpastes, for example. First, it was ammoniated; then it was chlorophyllated; tomorrow, it will be fluoridated! And, at this point the American Dental Association doesn't think it at all funny. The doctors have been carrying on their own research with the claims of various manufacturers. Their findings were keynoted at their 94th Annual Convention when they said that any inference that ammoniated or chlorophyllated cleaners are effective against decay is pure speculation. Certain sales and advertising claims were branded as "ridiculous" and recommendations were made that they be considered by the Pure Food and Drug Administration.

Complaints about bait advertising are currently flooding Better Business Bureaus across the country. Only a short time ago our Secretary of the Interior made a blistering attack on the ethics of automobile salesmen in a declining market. Boldly dishonest and scarehead advertising has appeared in recent weeks from coast to coast.

Unfortunately, even a few large-city, thoroughly reliable newspapers have been used to promote questionable ethical practices. For instance, one electrical appliance was recently advertised for sale. Salesmen were instructed to use the "on sale" merely as bait. The sales technique was to upgrade the customer to a more expensive model. If the salesman failed to do this, and was forced to sell the "on sale" model to his customer, he was fined. This fine was placed in a kitty and was given to the salesman who sold the greatest number of the more expensive models. The sales manager who conceives this kind of sales gimmick either has a hole in his head, or ought, maybe, to have one put there! There is nothing that will kill a customer's faith faster in a company or a product with that kind of misrepresentation.

"Bootlegging" is not always a fair term. What is illegal about an honest laissez-faire policy? Free trade has always been held to be both legal and beneficial, and the law of the land has heretofore protected this free enterprise. It strikes me that the kind of selling that some people are calling "bootlegging" or "discounting" may be more in keeping with American free enterprise that price-fixing and the legislation of profit margins. However, I may be wrong.

These are times to weigh advertising, to question certain salesmen, and to buy cautiously. A buyer's market does not mean the end of good business or of good business ethics. It does mean, apparently, that the boys in business will try the tricks of boys. The true businessmen will survive because they know that a fair deal, courteous service, and honesty today are bound to return in the form of loyal customers and better sales tomorrow.

Ninety per cent of the newspapers know this and are seeking to help such honest businessmen. These newspapers turn down all advertising which they feel will not benefit their readers. Yet, these newspapers like dollars as well as you do. I appeal to you to help support these local papers in every possible way.

Arabian Horse Show Set For Sept. 17, 18 At Amphitheatre

The International Amphitheatre will house the largest All-Arabian show ever presented in America Sept. 17 and 18. More than 200 of the nation's finest Arabian horses worth more than $1,000,000.00 will compete for the many valuable trophies, ribbons, and cash prizes.

This event is sponsored by the Lutheran high school association of Greater Chicago Athletic and Booster clubs. All proceeds will go for grounds improvement, athletic equipment, and physical education which are not adequately provided for in the annual school budgets.

True horse lovers are welcome to come Friday morning and stay all day and evening. Many extra events are presented Friday which are not on the regular show schedule. Among these is the famous Arabian horse auction, one of the highlights of this show each year. This event will be especially attractive this year because Arthur Godfrey has graciously consented to put up three of his prize Arabians for auction. Godfrey wants it expressly understood, however, that he is not disposing of all his Arabian horses. On the contrary he is trying to do his part, in accordance with the avowed purpose of all Arabian horse owners, to interest others in the joys of owning and breeding these beautiful creatures.

Growing in Love

Lesson for September 19, 1954

A great deal is said about "love" but not enough has been done about it. Jesus taught that Christians must love even their enemies. He and his great apostles Paul and John had much to say about love and forgiveness. Paul would hardly have given the warnings he gave against quarreling and strife if he had not thought that Christians need these warnings. Few words are used oftener in Christian sermons than "love"; few are more misunderstood. Few ideals are held up oftener by the church; few are violated more often by church members. Love is a clouded theme; some questions may help to clear it up.

Dr. Foreman

Christian Love
The first question is: What is the difference between Christian love and what usually goes by that name? It should be plain to any one who can read the Bible that when Paul and John and Jesus speak of "love" and urge it as a duty of all of us, they are not thinking of romantic love as between men and women. That is a good, important, happy and sweet kind of love. No life is fully complete without it; but Christian love is a wider thing. All kinds of love except Christian love have limits. You love your family, your country, your friends, people you know and like. Jesus asks us to love even our enemies. A circle of love that will take in enemies must be something extraordinary, and so it is. Ordinary love, then, has limits small or wide; Christian love knows no limits. Again, ordinary love is possessive, it wants the loved one for itself. Christian love is self-giving. Ordinary love is strictly human and can be found in those who do not know God.

Christian love is divine; it is not only like God's love but is found only in the lives of those who have been touched by God's Spirit. Ordinary love is given to the lovable; the divine kind of love, the Christian kind.

Loving and Liking
Another question is: How can we love those we do not like? And can we like everybody? A clue to the answer is found in what we know of the love of God. Jesus very clearly suggests that we are to be Godlike in our love; indeed our highest Christian growth comes right here, because when we are most truly filled with this kind of love we are most like God. But it is plain that God does not like every one he loves. We read that God loved us "while we were yet sinners." If we could say that God likes murderers, adulterers, traitors, thieves, foul-mouthed and cruel men, we should have to say that God shows very poor taste. But we are nowhere told that God likes sinners, that is to say that he enjoys their company, enjoys what they do and say. Far from it. If he liked them he would never change them. It is written, "Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth" but it is just as true to say, "Whom the Lord loveth he changeth." Love, in the Christian, God-like meaning, is concern for the true welfare of the loved one. A father may love his son (and God does love his sons), even when he thoroughly disapproves what the son is doing. So we are not expected to like everybody, regardless; that would be rather silly. But as Christians we are expected to have concern for the true welfare of every one.

Can Love Be Perfect?

A third question is: Can our love ever be perfect? Here Christians differ in their understanding of what Jesus and Paul and John taught, and of what is possible for us. All Christians agree that only one life expressing perfect love, from beginning to end, has ever been seen—the life of our Lord. Some Christians believe that it is possible, sometimes, to act from a motive of unadulterated, unalloyed, unreserved, unqualified Christian love. Other Christians believe that this is never possible for a human being, even a Spirit-blessed Christian. Two things are certain at this point. One is that even if the motive is sometimes absolutely pure, human knowledge is never perfect. Our concern may be completely unselfish, but not completely wise. The other certainty is that even if the motive is never absolutely pure, nevertheless perfection is always the high goal.

Truckers Pressed For License Fees

Attorney General Latham Castle announced today that the State of Illinois' campaign to compel truck operators to pay up their entire estimated 11 to 12 million dollar delinquency in 1952 license fees and privilege taxes now is edging near the half-way mark.

As a result of this campaign, Castle said, exactly $4,953,523.90 rests snugly in the state treasury as of July 1 last. The drive, Castle declared, is continuing toward the ultimate goal of collecting as much more as is humanly possible of the estimated total 11 to 12 million dollar delinquency. The total already collected, Castle explained, poured into the treasury either as the result of legal action taken against delinquent truckers or as voluntary payments by truckers before suit had been filed against them.

The opening gun in the fight to collect the 1952 tax delinquencies was fired May 21, 1953, when Attorney General Castle filed suit against the Hayes Freight Lines, Inc., for $58,950.47. From that date on, suits against hundreds of other delinquent truck operators have been filed both in Sangamon and Cook County Circuit Courts. As of today, the total sought in such suits is $5,149,067.26, of which $952,611.08 is sought in suits filed in Sangamon county and $4,196,456.18 of which is sought in suits filed in Cook County. The Hayes company, the original defendant in these delinquency proceedings, has now paid off its entire indebtedness.

An approximate 50 percent return has been obtained. Attorney General Castle said, from a system of notifying delinquents that unless payment is made to the state within 10 days suit will be filed against them. Such payments before judgment has been returned, Castle pointed out, permits the delinquent truckers to escape payment of court costs and interest as provided when such judgments are entered by the courts.

OCK ISLAND, though directly serving 14 mid-continent states, is as much a local business as your corner drug store or your favorite food market.

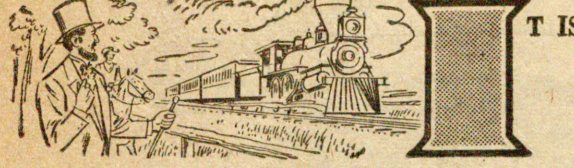

N EVERY side you see evidence of the essential part this railroad plays in the life of your community and its importance to your well being.

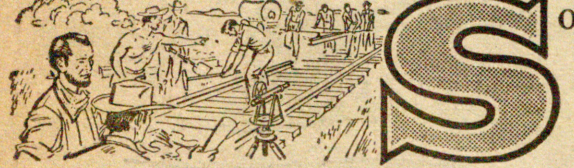

OMMITTED to the task of providing efficient transportation, it brings you food, clothing, wearing apparel, building materials—everything to make life more livable.

EEPING busy serving others has compensated us in many, many ways. Not the least of these are the friends we have made—there are thousands of them.

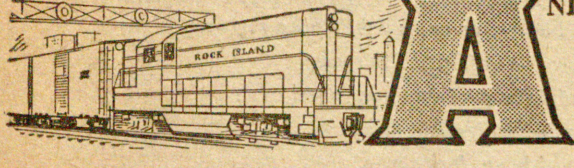

IT IS frequently said that a business is the lengthened shadow of one man. This is hardly true of the Rock Island. It is the lengthened shadow of many men.

OME were engineers, some surveyors, others were car builders, track layers, or what have you. Most of them were conscientious, service-minded persons.

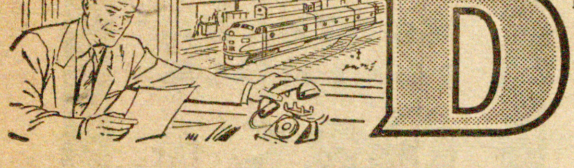

LIVE AND LET LIVE was their motto. They believed, just as their successors do, that free enterprise is an American heritage—something to keep and to cherish.

ND they believed, too, that really good service depends not only on an experienced, willing personnel, but also on modern equipment and up-to-date rolling stock.

EVER, may we add, has the Rock Island been in the position it is today for providing a freight hauling service that satisfies the most finicky.

DIRECT your shipments, therefore, over Rock Island rails whenever you can... and know what it means to have a shipping service a bit better than you'd expect!
